

COMMUNITY CONSULTATION:

All Ages, One Community

Building intergenerational connections

The NSW Ministerial Advisory Committee on Ageing is hosting two community consultations in Dubbo to talk about ways to bring together younger and older people to build intergenerational understanding and create stronger communities.

Topics for discussion include:

- Sharing culture, stories and experiences
- Exchanging skills and knowledge
- Mentoring
- Examples of successful community initiatives linking older and younger people
- Intergenerational communication
- Resources, players and partnerships

Wednesday, 3 September 2008

Dubbo RSL Club Resort

Cnr Brisbane and Wingewarra Streets, Dubbo

Morning consultation: 9:00am (for a 9:30am start) to 12:00pm

Afternoon consultation: 1:00pm (for a 1:30pm start) to 4:00pm

(Intergenerational connections in Aboriginal communities)

The consultations are open to people of any age and background with an interest in community activities which can connect youth and older people. Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander people are particularly invited to attend the afternoon consultation.

Food and refreshments will be provided.

Places are limited.

To register please call (02) 8270 2154 or email maca\_info@dadhc.nsw.gov.au

Consultation findings will be reported to the Minister for Ageing and used to inform government strategies to promote intergenerational connections.

These consultations are organised by the NSW Ministerial Advisory Committee on Ageing, with the support of the Office for Ageing, NSW Department of Ageing, Disability and Home Care.

Further information: www.maca.nsw.gov.au